These steps are a whole lot easier. Bleaching: Soak the seashells in a 50-50 solution of bleach and water. The length of time depends on the type of seashells and the number of seashells being cleaned. Just be sure to remove them when the periostracum is gone. It is important to preserve it right away. Start by soaking the starfish in a 70%

7 Realizations to Help You Deal with Feeling Judged

Choose your sand dollars carefully. Don't collect living sand dollars. It's considered inhumane and illegal in some places, to kill sand dollars for the express purpose of drying them out and using them as decoration. Always be conscious of the amount of shells you take, and do your part to preserve the sand dollar species by leaving living creatures in the ocean, or tossing them back if
